Dear Valley Consulting Hiring Team,

I'm excited to be applying for a membership position at Valley Consulting Group. As someone interested in the inner workings of large-scale businesses and motivated to impact the world around me, I believe that my unique experiences and enthusiasm will be valuable assets for your team for the next 4 years.

In my past, I have been extensively involved in community service and event organization which has led me to develop professional relationships and communication skills with large organizations. I've secured sponsors for international hackathons, and worked with gymnasium renting organizations to organize a Volleyball tournament. Having worked in high pressure environments multiple times, I have reinforced my analytical skills which I hope to continue refining under the tutelage of the rest of the team.

Furthermore, I have practical consulting experience through DECA, an international organization that encourages students to mock-consult for real companies. During my time with DECA, I conducted market research, professional interviews, and other necessary principles of consulting.

Technically, I have experience with Python, the Django Framework, and dealing with APIs integrated in websites. Over the past 3 years, I created a Django-powered website from scratch that would prioritize all my Canvas assignments based on impact to my grade, made possible with Canvas's generous API support.

With the combination of my community service, sponsorship efforts, DECA experiences, and technical proficiencies, I am confident in my ability to contribute positively and meaningfully to the Valley Consulting Group. I am excited about the prospect of collaborating with like-minded individuals at UC Berkeley, and I am eager to bring my unique perspectives to the table.

Thank you for your time and consideration, and I hope to show you what I can bring to the table.

Sincerely,
Mahit Namburu
